as an annual tradition First Bank celebrates the joy of Christmas giving

On that first Christmas, so long ago, came strangers bearing gifts for the wondrous Child. And thus, began our warm tradition of holiday giving.

"大概"来说:"你不说。"

Again this year, we are trying to relive the spirit of that first Christmas by asking our employees to present a Gift for the Child, imagining the Christ Child has been born this Christmas. A gift that shows the depth of their feeling at the coming of this miracle.

You will marvel at the ingenuity, variety and beauty of their selections which will be on display beneath our lobby Christmas tree. You, too, can submit a gift. We will display it along with ours.

Best of all, as a token of the true revival of the holiday spirit, our Christmas tree gifts will be distributed among the less fortunate children in the Quad-Cities by the Salvation Army just in time for Christmas.

CHICAGO — By now, most motorists have heard of cata-lytic converters and have no-ticed an increasing number of service stations selling unticed an increasing number of service stations selling unleaded gas.

The converter, a device that looks much like a muffler and attaches to the car's exhaust pipe, is standard equipment on most 1975 cars.

It's filled with catalysts that react with exhaust gases, changing carbon monoxides and carbon dioxide and cutting exhaust pollutants by at least 50 per cent.

Cars with catalytic converters can use only unleaded gas, since even small amounts of lead seriously impair the converter's ability to perform.

Commission has vast power to help or harm this area

The Southwestern Illinois Metropolitan and Regional Planning Commission is in robust health, judging by the big turnout its December dinner meeting attracted to Charlie's Restaurant in Granite City Thursday evening. Public officials and many private citizens showed an active interest in what is being done and proposed.

The great power of SIMARPC to help or hurt this area was illustrated at the same location the previous day when Executive Director Theadore Mikesell described how the commission's planning
